

furniture design: TWO-FACED RECORD CABINET

Materials: Solid walnut wood, corian solid surface, plated solid brass.

This cabinet is designed for the modern record collector who can't choose between classic rock and new wave. And why should you? This piece is a fusion of natural and synthetic materials in a geometric design that is meant to resemble a piece of paper being folded around an object.

As it is meant to be against a wall, the back of the design is arbitrary, although ideally the lines of the materials would continue on all sides. 6 cylindrical brass legs are united with a brass band supporting the base. While the corian door holds no purpose other than to glide around, it does allow to conceal those records that you are most ashamed of owning.
